

INJURED THUG IMPLICATES PAL LIMA DEPUTY IS WOUNDED IN GUN BATTLE

1 CAPTURED AND 2 FLEE DETECTIVES

Allen-co Officers Take Part in Fight Near Harrison
NOW SEARCHING FOR OTHERS
Men Wanted Are Implicated in Many Store Robberies, Claim

Deputy Sheriff C. A. Smith was wounded in a gun battle Sunday with members of the notorious Everhardt gang, who were cornered by an Allen-co posse on a lonely farm near Harrison, Hamilton-co.

Harry Everhardt was captured at the start of the battle and is being brought to Lima by officers.

A bullet believed to have been fired by "Bill" Everhardt, leader of the gang, struck Smith in one hand as he was firing at the gangster from shelter.

The missile lodged in the officer's arm inflicting a painful but not dangerous wound.

Smith shifted his revolver to his other hand and continued to fight.

"Bill" Everhardt, 25, brother of Harry, who has been hunted three states for more than a year past for robberies in Allen and Hamilton-co, was reported to be wounded five times during the three-hour battle. He escaped thru the woods, it is believed, when night brought the fusillade to a halt.

THIRD MAN IN PARTY.
Ray Blaine, brother-in-law of the Everhardt boys, is believed to have been on the farm with them. He may have taken hand in the battle, and escaped with Bill Everhardt.

Information that the gang were hiding near Cincinnati reached Lima Saturday night.

Deputy Smith and Edie Gayman and L. E. Rice, detectives, left here at midnight Saturday bound for a place called Franklin.

Arriving there Sunday they learned that the men were hiding on a farm near Harrison, a village on the Indiana line. The location is an ideal one for law breakers who can hide and slip back and forth over the state line, officials say.

Approaching the farm house the posse encountered Harry Everhardt. He was arrested. Almost immediately Bill Everhardt opened fire on the posse.

While one officer escorted the prisoner out of range, the others engaged in a double duel with the bandits.

Smith was wounded shortly after the fight commenced.

STEADY BARRAGE
The wounded, according to reports, Everhardt kept up a barrage which prevented the posse from rushing him.

He called to them several times. In answer to demands to surrender, that he would die first.

A wire received by Sheriff Crosson Monday noon stated the party were all right, and were enroute home with Harry Everhardt in a motor car.

"I am glad to know that Smith is only slightly wounded," Sheriff Crosson declared. "It is too bad that Bill Everhardt got away. From what I can learn the Allen-co officers were alone in the fight. Bill is the ringleader of the gang."

Bill Everhardt, Sheriff Crosson stated, is alleged to be a member of the armed gang who held up and robbed William Cozart, McGuffey grocery of $700, Feb. 13, 1923. He is also concerned officers say in the W. L. Thomas robbery in Kenton a month later.

Indictments were brought against him by the Allen-co grand jury a year ago in connection with alleged theft of clover seed and farm products near Westminster.

Part of the clover seed stolen was found by Sheriff Crosson in an abandoned well on a farm occupied by the Everhardts.

The brothers have been fugitives from justice ever since.

Two other members of the gang that robbed Cozart were captured by National detectives recently.

They are Paul Holler, 24, arrested in a New York army post, and now in Mansfield reformatory, and Derrell McCarty, 23, captured at the home of his father Bill McCarty, March 13.

PHONE CO. FIGHTS FOR INCREASE

Wants Long Distance Rates Raised in Ohio

COLUMBUS — (Associated Press) — Further direct testimony will be introduced by the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. when its hearing is resumed before the public utilities commission here today on the company's application for an increase in long distance telephone rates.

Witnesses have indicated that they will explain details of the savings which the company is enabled to make thru its association with the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., and how the Ohio Bell is enabled to keep its operating costs down by using standardized equipment, modern devices and improvements as developed by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. Telephone rates are based on these operating costs.

Among witnesses scheduled to appear today are G. A. Kositsky, chief engineer of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co.; W. G. Schneider, valuation engineer and W. T. Anthony, general traffic manager. Officials representing various communities in the state also are expected to attend.

Company officials have said that present toll rates are inadequate and that additional revenue is necessary to provide for operating expenses and for a fair return on the value of the property used. Increase in revenue to the Ohio Bell and the 500 independent companies with which it connects will not exceed $400,000 a year, they said, and the average increase for each long distance message will not exceed three cents.

ANDERSON LOSES

Former Anti-Saloon League Man Must Serve Term

NEW YORK — (Associated Press) — William H. Anderson, resigned state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of New York today lost another battle in his fight against going to Sing Sing prison as a convicted forger, when Supreme Court Justice Wagner denied his motion for a certificate of reasonable doubt.

Anderson's only remaining recourse to avoid immediate transfer to prison to serve his term of from one to two years, would be the issuance of a stay of execution by some justice of the appellate division.

Justice Wagner's denial automatically cancelled Anderson's $5,000 bond on which he has been at liberty since his indictment by the grand jury in July, 1923.

NEW YORK — William H. Anderson, former state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of New York, will leave for Sing Sing prison tomorrow to begin serving his term of from one to two years imprisonment for third degree forgery.

C. P. Williams, of Anderson's counsel, announced he would surrender his client tomorrow.

AMERICANS MADE CARDINALS BY POPE PIUS

Archbishops of New York and Chicago Elevated

DISTINCT HONOR TO U. S.

Colorful Ceremony is Held at the Vatican

ROME — (Associated Press) — Monsignor Patrick J. Hayes, archbishop of New York and Monsignor George W. Mundelein, archbishop of Chicago were made cardinals of the Roman Catholic church at a secret consistory this morning in the historic hall of the consistory at the Vatican. The ceremony, carried out in conformity with centuries old ritual, performed in majestic solemnity amid a setting of colorful splendor.

The two American prelates thus raised to the dignity of princes of the church were not present but awaited notification of their elevation at their respective temporary places of residence in Rome in accordance with custom. Cardinal Hayes received the "biglietti" as the notification is called, at the American College and Cardinal Mundelein at the College of Propaganda.

HONORS AMERICA
The pope in his allocution declared America to have attained "primacy" in charity and that he wished to remember this in an unusual way. Therefore he elevated to the sacred purple two prelates whose qualities and the importance of whose sees warranted it.

"In the immense family which God has confided to us," the pope said, "there are brothers more favored by divine providence who thru the Father of us all come to the assistance of their less fortunate brothers in their trials and disasters."

"Our heart is touched and at the same time exalted toward God, thinking of and beholding their magnificent acts of filial piety and fraternal charity. We find pleasure in expressing to them from their exalted place in this distinguished assembly, a fervent declaration of our gratitude, that of a father who feels himself much indebted on behalf of his suffering children."

The consistory was participated in by all the cardinals resident in Rome. The striking violet robes of the cardinals, hanging to the ground in graceful folds, mingled with the purple of the monsignori of the papal household, Swiss guards in their multi-colored medieval uniforms and bearing halberds, papal gendarmes, officers of the Vatican's armed forces and numerous functionaries in historic garb added to the picturesque of the scene. The cardinals were ranged according to rank, with Cardinal Vannutelli, their octogenarian dean at the head.

POPE ANNOUNCED
The ringing of a bell announced the approach of the pope, who entered amid profound silence. He was clad in white, his robes standing out in bold contrast to the rest of the colorful array. He walked slowly, flanked by a group of Swiss guards and members of the household. Each prelate knelt as he approached.

When the pontiff took his place on the throne the cardinals paid him homage, each in turn approaching the throne and kissing the papal ring.

At the conclusion the papal master of ceremonies in a low voice, announced "extra omnes." All but the pope and members of the Sacred College began to retire from the hall. When all those who were not to participate in the consistory had withdrawn the doors were closed and a group of Swiss guards took up their station at the entrance.

The pope rose from his throne and uttered a short prayer to the Holy Ghost for the guidance of the consistory. He next read his allocution.

The election of the two new cardinals then took place and occupied but a brief time. The pontiff announced their names and then asked the required question: "Quid quis videtur?" ("Has anyone sought to say?")

Each cardinal, beginning with the dean, rose in turn, bowed to the pope and removed his skull cap as a sign of assent. The pontiff then announced a list of bishops and other nominations and the consistory was over.

Descending from his throne, the pope departed between rows of cardinals and was escorted to his apartments by Swiss guards and members of the household.

AMERICANS NOTIFIED
Monsignor Gervani, secretary to the papal secretary of state, departed with papal couriers to notify the Americans of their elevation. The new cardinals, attended by gentlemen-in-waiting, received him clad in the vestments of archbishops, and

PLAN SPEED ON REVENUE BILL

Income Tax Rate to be Given Consideration First

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press) — Intensive work to speed up consideration of the revenue bill was in prospect for the senate finance committee when it took up some of the remaining administrative provisions with the likelihood of reaching the ratification schedule within a few days. The income tax rate will be the first of the schedules up for action. Republican members with the exception of Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, the insurgent leader, have indicated that they favor the Mellon proposals, while the Democrats are working out a new compromise which follows somewhat the Garner plan supported by House Democrats.

Secretary Mellon has added his voice to the movement to separate the provision for a 25 per cent reduction in income taxes payable this year from the revenue bill and bring about its approval in a separate resolution.

In a letter to Representative Ackerman, Republican New Jersey, Mr. Mellon said the favored from a practical standpoint the plan embodied by the house in the revenue bill allowing 25 per cent deductions on each quarterly installment as it falls due rather than elimination of the September installment payments.

MURDER TRUST IS SUSPECTED

Eleven Girls Missing, Believed to be Victims

SPECIAL PROBE WANTED

Finding of Bones in Cave Declared Clue

NEW YORK — The fate of 11 girls, missing within the past two years from the Lethworth Village home, may be entrusted for investigation to a special prosecutor if Governor Smith grants a request of Dr. Anna W. Hochfelder, who has evolved a startling murder theory.

Dr. Hochfelder, assistant corporation counsel, insists that the bones of a skeleton found in a cave on Cheesecake Mountain, are those of Lillian White, former inmate of the institution.

Together with Grant Williams, former head of the nursing persons bureau, Dr. Hochfelder claims to know the identity of the white girl's murderer.

PROSECUTOR WANTED
Disappearance of Mary Weiss and Helen Johnson, the two other girls of the Lethworth home, a fortnight ago, led to demand for a special deputy attorney-general to prosecute the man Dr. Hochfelder will accuse.

Circumstances surrounding the disappearance of the Weiss girl were somewhat similar to those that occurred when Lillian White was missed.

Eight other girls, one after another, have vanished from the home, which is the New York state home for the feeble minded.

Finding of bleached white bones in a cave several miles from the institution put Dr. Hochfelder and Captain Williams on the case.

They reconstructed a probable skull and declared it to be that of Lillian White.

They accused a former employee of the Lethworth home as the murderer.

Alleging that prosecution by local officials has been hampered by lack of funds and of interest in their murder theory, Dr. Hochfelder and Captain Williams are demanding appointment of a special prosecutor.

NEW SECRETARY IS ON JOB HERE

Don Jacobs, Morton's Successor, Getting Acquainted

Don C. Jacobs, 37, of Fremont, Monday morning took unofficial charge of Lima's Board of Commerce. He will assume his duties as active manager on Monday, March 21, the date of J. E. Morton's retirement.

Jacobs was appointed by the Board of Commerce secretary committee to succeed Morton, who is to be a representative for the State Better Business Bureau, and Ohio Manager of the Philadelphia Ledger.

At present the new manager is engaged with Morton in scheduling numerous meetings, the first of which will be a gathering of the various Wholesale and Retail groups, scheduled for the latter part of the week. He is taking this means of "getting onto the ropes" of his new office.

Previous to coming to Lima Jacobs was secretary of the Fremont Business and Professional Men's association and he is reported to have established the one successful co-operative delivery system for retail merchants in the U. S.

Since the association was not established for profit Jacobs was forced to employ funds totaling $6,000 in the organization of a Better Business Bureau. He also sponsored and helped finance the Retail Merchants' Association and Credit Exchange Bureau in Fremont.

When he left that city he turned $6,140, accumulated funds of the no-profit organization, over a building fund for the city. All these results came from an organization which, when he assumed the reins, had been laboring under an $8,000 debt.

"With the co-operation of the public," Morton said Monday, "conditions in the city will be developed by Jacobs and his Board of Commerce in such a way as to make Lima a better place to live. The help of the citizenship of the community is all he needs."

Rudolph Hauberman, representative of the National Chamber of Commerce, visited Morton and Jacobs this morning, and at present is engaged in looking over conditions in Lima.

Painted Fish Are Found On Markets

HARRISBURG, Pa. — (Associated Press) — Painted fish have been found in Philadelphia sea food markets, John S. McKee, deputy secretary of agriculture, declared today.

White salmon, dipped in coal tar dye to give them a reddish tint, were sold as red salmon, McKee said.

The fish, which were discovered by Robert M. Simmers, general agent of the bureau of foods, were painted in Chicago and shipped to Philadelphia. As an examination of the painting, it was pointed out that the value of red salmon is four times that of the white variety.

Officials of the bureau have ordered an investigation of all fish markets in the state to determine whether there has been a general distribution of the painted fish. Where they are found, prosecutions will be instituted.

Less than a week ago the bureau discovered that "bootleg" candy confections, containing intoxicating beverages, were appearing in the state.

CHANGES SLIGHT IN FREIGHT
Rates Almost at Standstill 40 Years, Survey Shows
AT LOWEST MARK IN 1916
Highest Figures Reached in 1921, Then Dropped

(CHICAGO — (Associated Press))
Cost of hauling freight in the United States has undergone little change in the last 40 years, according to a survey just completed by the Research Council of the National Freight Rates Association. While the cost of basic commodities have undergone wide fluctuations, the survey points out, the cost of freight transportation has jogged along close to the base level, apparently having little effect on prices or on the changes in industrial costs.
"Prices in the United States have come thru two major movements in the last 55 years," the survey discloses. "From the late sixties to 1897 the trend of prices was steadily downward, with the exception of brief rallies in 1872, 1880, 1888 and 1893. After the 1921 depression prices rose until April 1923. The price level at the beginning of 1924 stands somewhat above the price levels of 1870."
DEPRESSION LEVEL
"From 1867 to 1897 freight rates and prices fell together. Freight rates remained at the depression level, until 1917, a period of 20 years, while prices were rising. When freight rates began to rise in 1918 they did not rise as fast or as far as prices. Since 1921 freight rates again have fallen."
The Research Council, taking 1855 as 100 both for freight rates and wholesale prices, show the highest point for freight rates in 1897 at 190.4. Wholesale prices then stood at 197. Lowest mark for freight rates was 70.7 in 1916 and part of 1917, at the beginning of which year the wholesale prices stood at 148, then shot up to 207. High water mark for the wholesale prices was in 1923 with 263, at which time freight rates were 104.1.
"High mark for freight rates in the post-war period was 126 in 1921 but it quickly dropped to 116 in 1922, and now is at 110. The big spread between freight rates and wholesale costs began in 1899 and has widened ever since, so that, according to the charted figures, freight rates have only exerted a minor influence in determining the course of wholesale prices. Strict regulation of railroad rates down to a bare subsistence basis, while industrial production has been free to go after profits, is reflected in these figures."

Be Careful What You Wash Your Hair With

Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle. The best thing to use is Mulford's coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely harmless. It is inexpensive and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.
Two or three teaspoonfuls is all that is required. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. adv

REMOVING A DANGER

When the state director of agriculture announces that Ohio cannot be rid of bovine tuberculosis short of seven years from this time, the first impression perhaps is that it is a pessimistic view.

However, the opposite is in reality reflective of the situation. In view of the fact that there are approximately 2,000,000 head of cattle in the state, the tuberculin test applied to 93,775 in the past eight months, and 53,128 in the previous fiscal year, indicates that what has been accomplished is merely a start. It is estimated that if the work progresses in the future at the rate accomplished in the past, 13 years time would be required to have the tests applied to all the cattle in the state.

It must be considered too, that the total number will increase constantly. The forecast of the progress of the tuberculin test from this time until July 1 of the present year is that 150,000 will be tested under the area plan, adopted after it was found that it is eminently more advantageous than the accredited herd plan. It is assured that the number of cattle will increase, but perhaps not out of proportion to the present rate of eradication, in view of the universal demand that the job be completed as quickly as possible.

Its importance as a necessary health measure has arrested the attention of the public. Every organization that has anything to do with the public health is behind it. In view of that fact, the director of agriculture believes that the task can be completed in seven or eight years. There is universal demand for the protection of the state's milk and meat supply. This is emphatically expressed by the manner in which the various counties are being listed, awaiting area work.

Danger to the public from bovine tuberculosis will exist so long as the disease is not entirely eradicated. Therefore, it behooves legislators to sense the need of prompt action and provide the necessary force and funds to do the job quickly.

OLD IDEAS STICK LIKE GLUE

The first 50 Packard autos were equipped with "whip-sockets on the dashboards." Packard engineers remonstrated with the coach builder who had the contract to make the first fifty bodies. But for years he made carriage bodies, and he insisted on putting whip-sockets on the autos.

This incident is typical of all human progress.

The first railroad passenger cars looked like stagecoaches. The first autos looked like horse-drawn vehicles. No matter how revolutionary a new idea may be, when people put it to practical use they invariably insist on retaining some feature of the old device or system that is replaced by the new.

So, quite naturally, the airplane is a copy of birds and insects, nature's "flying machines." Man couldn't be blamed for copying them. But the Ultimate Airplane may be an entirely different looking affair.

The human tendency, to attach a specimen of the old to new things, has a simple psychological explanation. People simply have confidence in old tried-out devices, and they cling to them as a sort of life preserver in case the new outfit doesn't work.

Probably the builder of the first Packard auto bodies feared they would break down and have to be towed home by a horse. In that event, a whip-socket wouldn't be a bad idea.

Radio, the most sensational mechanical development of recent years, changes swiftly. A new set comes out. You start to make it—and are apt to find it replaced by something better before you finish soldering the wires. Radio changes faster than women's styles, far faster. There has never in history been anything that has changed so rapidly—that has revealed a public tendency to discard the old and adopt the new without regret or suspicion.

This means that people are losing their chronic respect for old things. They are willing to take a chance and throw old devices to the ash-heap as soon as something better appears.

This tendency may revolutionize human thought and even systems of economics.

We will be better off when the knows instead of the noes have it.

tion in Washington, on the Senate side. Anent forcing Harry to come thru. While Will Hays admitted the same Harry gave some loose pocket change, (which totalled only $75,000) for the campaign. Then to breakfast on radishes and wheat cakes. Being helped no less than seven times, the good chef did say. Howbeit, they were the best I ever did eat.

Nothing ever takes the bloom off a flappers face, like a back swipe of her dainty kerchief. At the High-st, met Chief Peggen, and we discoursed on the ways of the underworld. And the wiles of the wicked. It may be true that many wives have no aptitude for arithmetic, but they sure know figures when they see them.

Lunched, with the bunch at the new White. Thence, across the public square, to Howard Dean's money. There nonplussed, at the crowds. Thinking anon, I was in Federman's Boston Store. Long lines of men at three windows putting in. And two lines of women at other windows, taking out. Howbeit, more women were opening the doors, as I gave up chance to lay aside my shillings.

In the afternoon, to call on the Hon. William Mackenzie, newly come from Florida, but found him gone. So, to Sil's for new rubbers. And into Gieg's for two payes of black hose. Always get two, Maxwuss taught me, years ago. Back home at dusk, and with my wife into the benzine cart, for ayre. Avoiding Main-st, as a safety first. So, over South to the industrial section, avoiding the smoke nuisance.

In the evening, to Baker's Place. Tuning in on an argument over the Battle of Bunker Hill With annex, on Logic and Economics by that pastmaster of forensic power, the Hon. Don C. Henderson. To all of which Frank Banta, Chalmers Brown, and poor ignorant me, weakly concurred.

Then, down the paves thru a congested motor district. Shoppers everywhere. Fell in with Mr. and Mrs. Chester Cable, and the noble grand-son of that eminent golfer, Dr. A. H. Creps. Now digging up the sand dunes of fashionable Palm Beach.

Thither, away to The Delicatessen, for tomorrow's meals. And into the Market-street for a half-pound of sweets, which I promised my wife, poor wretch, for St. Patrick's day.

So, rather late home, and to bed.

LIMA NEWS HEALTH SERVICE

—BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY—
NOW, THEN, SLIM ONES

I'm thru preaching to the fat folks and warning them of the dangers ahead if they keep on the way they're going—I'm thru for the season. They'll have to worry along somehow without my attention for the rest of this season. I promised in an impassioned moment in one of my sermons to the stout, that I should consider the thin ones all in good time. I have been cudgeling my own few brains and beating the books, as it were, for something helpful to say to them, and I can't find a darn thing that isn't stereotyped, not in the books anyhow, but I'll do what I can with a think or two I found rattling around in my own brains. Of course these things weren't born or created de novo in my brain—they must have got in there some time or other thru my eyes or my singular sense of hearing. When I say I got an idea out of my own head, I mean, of course, that I can't remember offhand just where I did borrow it or maybe I prefer to let on I don't know lest I give too much credit to some one else. That is the way with most ideas folks get out of their own heads, isn't it?

Thin people are undernourished. Now in order to avoid any unpleasantness let us clearly understand what undernourished or poorly nourished or poor nutrition means. It doesn't mean not having enough to eat nor the right kind and variety of food. It means simply that the individual is underweight. Yet that isn't the only test of malnutrition, for some persons who are a little underweight are healthy and normal nevertheless. But the ratio of body weight with height is generally taken as the index of nutrition for persons of the same age. The majority of cases of undernutrition or malnutrition occur among people who are fairly well to do. Sometimes it is a matter of individual fault of appetite, as in a child with an idiosyncrasy against some such important food as milk. Sometimes it is improperly selected food, as a household dietary which fails to provide the natural vitamins. And sometimes, it is just poor cooking, as in boiling potatoes and throwing away the mineral salts in the potato water, or boiling coffee a few minutes and spoiling the noble beverage, or cooking the very life and pep out of the oatmeal. But in the majority of cases of underweight what the thin one eats or does not eat is of no more importance than certain other factors which are found to be responsible in some cases, such as bad air, unrecognized tuberculosis, heredity syphilis, and now and then just a willful, obstinate family tendency toward thinness.

Folks who are skinny before 21 are considered rather doubtful risks by life insurance companies, because of the chances that such persons have smoldering tuberculosis. But folks who are skinny after 35 are welcomed cordially by the insurance companies, for experience has shown that these poor ones are long of life as of limb. (Copyright, 1924)

JUST FOLKS

—BY EDGAR A. GUEST—

THE HAPPY NEER-DO-WELL.
Swinging down the road, swinging down the road,
Waving to a neighbor and bending to the load,
Talking lush adventure to the lads, I chance to meet,
Winking at the pretty girls, and oh, their smiles are sweet!
Listening to the old hearts and all the crows they tell,
Swinging down the roadway, just a happy ne'er-do-well.

Swinging down the road, swinging down the road,
Now and then wondering where I shall drop my load
Yesterday a mile behind, today still trudging on,
Carrying the memories of what has come—and gone;
And what awaits tomorrow not one of us can tell,
Swinging down the roadway, just a vagrant ne'er-do-well.

Not for me the crown of power and not for me the cheers,
Better men than I shall lead thru the lane of years,
I shall know the weary man, and all his children small,
I shall stop at humble doors where gentle people dwell,
Swinging down the roadway, just a happy ne'er-do-well.

Lads shall walk along with me and every pretty maid
Shall wave her lovely hand at me and never be afraid,
And I shall know the mothers, too, and all their splendid dreams,
And find the road a friendly road, however far it seems,
Then they may say a prayer for me when tolls the steeple bell
And ask a place in Heaven for a happy ne'er-do-well.

Dandruff Soon
Destroys the Hair

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

My morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. Four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

Fellowship of Prayer

(Copyright, 1924)

Read Mt. 5:1-13. Text: 5:2-3. And he taught them, saying, Blessed are the poor in spirit.

"In beginning the Christian life a man commits himself to candid inquiry, in a spirit of self-sacrifice and devotion, regarding the proper expression of the ideals of Jesus in all phases of modern life.

God has put the friendly instinct deep down in the soul of man. The desire to get and give help wells up in every little child so ready to say, "let me help!" It is in every mother's heart."

MEDITATION: The characteristics of the Christian which Jesus outlined in the beatitudes are alluring beacons to a higher life. The consciousness of an unsatisfied desire is one of the surest indications that somewhere in God's universe that desire will be satisfied if we only persevere. Until the human soul enters into the blessedness of the Lord it is restless and ill at ease, for in him only are we at home.

PERSONAL QUESTION: What does it mean for me to be poor in spirit?

PRAYER: Our Father God, we pray that thou mayest control our thoughts and our wills this day. Save us from taking the first enticing path unless it leads to fields of greater service. May we not look for ease, but let holy impulses guide us into ways of righteousness, thru Christ, Amen.

WAS DISCOURAGED ABOUT HERSELF

Then Found Plant Juice and Got Relief From Stomach, Kidney Trouble

FEELING BETTER ALL OVER

"My advice to people who are suffering is not to wait any longer but to get Plant Juice at once because I know that it does all and even more than is claimed," said Mrs. Bessie Brannigan, who lives at 360 West Twenty-First Street, New York City, while talking recently with the Plant Juice Man.

MRS. BESSIE BRANNIGAN

"For years I had been a great sufferer from dyspepsia and could hardly keep the lightest food on my stomach," Mrs. Brannigan continued. "I bloated with gas, had headaches and was so nervous I could not sleep and felt utterly worn out most of the time. And my liver and kidneys were disordered so that I had terrible pains in my back and was badly constipated. My complexion was sallow. I had dark circles under my eyes. I surely was discouraged about my condition for I had tried everything and even went to California, but without results."

"Then one day a friend told me about Plant Juice and recommended it to me so highly that I began to have faith in it and started taking it. I have now taken several bottles and surely am greatly improved. I have a good appetite and can eat most anything and enjoy my meals for I do not have had after effects. And my liver and kidneys are in good condition now; pains have left my back and I have been relieved of the constipation. Besides this, my nerves have been quieted so that I sleep like a child. My complexion has improved and I have gained weight and strength, and, in short, am better all over."

Plant Juice is sold in Lima at the Hunter drug stores, 49 Public Square and Main and Wayne streets; also at the Arbonne drug store, oppo. Post Office.

Orpheum—"Buzza Around" with Ruth St. Denis.

Clara K. Young

Clara Kimball Young will be seen at the Faurot this Monday evening, in Hurlbut's "Trimmed in Scarlet," said to be a highly emotional drama. This is her first attempt in a good many years on the spoken stage. She will wear some gorgeous gowns. It is a play wherein a spirited woman refuses to permit carelessness of her heart, and the consequent gossiping of her erstwhile friends to wreck her life.

Ruth St. Denis

Ruth St. Denis with Ted Shawn and the Denishawn dancers, will be at the Faurot Tuesday evening. Miss St. Denis is one of three of the world's greatest poetic dancers. The Dayton Journal of December 26, 1923, says that "Ruth St. Denis has made a great contribution not only to the dance, but to history and music as well. The influence of her efforts may be in the error, but it cannot be denied that she is the trail blazer in the revival of the most ancient and inspiring of arts." It will be found one of the most beautiful performances of interpretive dancing Lima has ever seen. The ensemble is magnificent and the stage setting in distinctive magnificence are features that cannot be overlooked.

"Scaramouche" Coming

Beginning Thursday afternoon Rex Ingram's Scaramouche, a picture version of Rafael Sabatini's celebrated novel, will be at the Faurot.

Man Made "Young" At 84 Tells How He Regained Vigor

Another remarkable report of being made "young" without a gland operation comes from J. L. Rowell, 84, of Kaw City, Okla.

"It has simply been wonderful," says Mr. Rowell. "My eyesight is clearer and my muscles feel supple. I walk with a firm springy step and now can do a man's work. I am enjoying a remarkable re-invigoration and restoration of gland and nerve activity, and I feel as young and vigorous as I did at 30. I have found a real 'fountain of youth'."

Mr. Rowell says he "rejuvenated" himself in only ten days by taking the recently discovered korex compound in tablet form. Many others—young and old—make similar reports of their experience with this compound in cases of nerve weakness, lost vigor and premature age. In fact, letters praising korex are being received in such volume that full-strength $2 treatments are being offered on trial, under a money-back guarantee, by the Korex Company, 3759 Melton Bldg., Kansas City, Mo., American distributors of the compound. The understanding is that the purchase price will be refunded, upon request, to any user who reports within ten days that he is not satisfied. If you wish to test korex under this guarantee, simply fill out and mail the coupon below.

rot. It will be seen thru to Sunday evening, with matinees daily. It has been claimed as a picture of the French Revolution, for not only has Ingram given it heart and soul, but he has given it brains and a fashion of "Scaramouche" with the deft hands of a master. It is one of the outstanding picture features of the past two years.

"Buzzing Around"

A musical comedy entitled "Buzza Around," opened at the New Orpheum theatre Sunday afternoon. It pleased three large audiences, afternoon and evening. It is an entertainment made up of tinkling tunes, while the eye is delighted with a chorus of pretty girls, wearing elaborate costumes backed by a wealth of scenery. There are ten principals in the cast, all capable artists. The piece is interspersed with vaudeville novelties. There is a quartette that scored heavily. All thru, the performance pleased as well as anything that has been seen at the New Orpheum this season. There will be a complete change of bill beginning at the matinee Thursday and continuing thru to Saturday night.

Let this Test Tell How

People get those whiter teeth

Do you admire the whiter teeth you see everywhere today? Do you realize that they signify cleaner teeth and safer?

Then make this free test, as millions have done, and learn how people get them.

By combating film

Those prettier teeth come from combating film—that viscous film you feel. Under old methods of tooth brushing, much of it clings and stays. It becomes discolored, forming dingy coats, then teeth lose their luster.

Film holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Protect the Enamel
 Pepsodent disintegrates the film, then removes it with an agent far softer than enamel. Never use a film combant which contains harsh grit.

Pepsodent

The New-Day Dentifrice
 Based on modern research. Now advised by leading dentists the world over.

Modern research has found two ways to effectively fight film. One disintegrates the film at all stages of formation. One removes it without harmful scouring.

These methods have proved themselves remarkably effective. A new-type tooth paste has been created to apply them daily. The name is Pepsodent.

Leading dentists everywhere in late years, have advised it. Now careful people of some 50 nations employ it every day.

Benefits you see

Pepsodent in several ways brings a new conception of what clean teeth mean. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva, which is there to neutralize mouth acids. It multiplies the ptyalin in saliva, which is there to digest starch deposits on teeth. These combined effects bring a revelation to new users.

Send the coupon for a 10 Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth become whiter as the film-coats disappear.

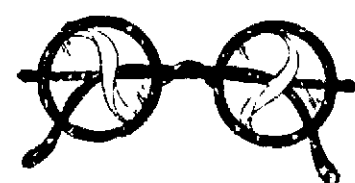

You will never forget the delightful results. Cut out coupon now.

KNITTING CLUB ENTERTAINED MONDAY

Mrs. S. S. Sealts, Thomas-apts, was hostess to the members of the Monday Knitting club and a number of guests on Monday. Mrs. Sealts invited the women for luncheon at one o'clock and bridge following at the home of Mrs. Clinton Sealts, 595 State-st.

Spring flowers were used in the dining room, where a buffet luncheon was served. A platter basket of jonquils and roses centered the table. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Clinton Sealts, who poured. Following the luncheon, six tables were laid for the bridge games.

Guests, other than the club members, were Mrs. E. M. Gooding, Mrs. John Galvin, Mrs. Charles Gamble, Mrs. C. A. Black, Mrs. J. G. S. Ramsey, Mrs. Harry Wright, Shook, Miss Lillian Taylor, Mrs. W. Mrs. Nellie Lowry, Mrs. Nelson T. Freely of Grand Rapids, Mich., and Mrs. J. R. Webb of Spencer, Ind.

Announcement has been made of the approaching marriage of Miss Arline Wagner, daughter of Mr. Imogene Wagner, and Donald R. Cameron, son of A. D. Cameron, W. Market-st., which will take place at San Diego, Cal., in April. Miss Wagner formerly resided in this city and for the past several years has been holding a secretarial position with the Delco Light Co. in Dayton. The bride-elect is a guest of Mrs. Earl Mack, 126 N. Cole-st., at this time, and will leave April 1st for California. Mr. Cameron, who has many friends here and is affiliated with the Epsilon fraternity, is connected with the Bank of Italy at San Diego.

Miss Ann Bradley left Monday to resume her studies at the Wells college, Aurora, N. Y., after spending ten days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Bradley, Shawnee.

SUSIE SMART'S ADVICE

Dear Miss Smart: I am engaged to a fine girl, almost 20. She is a graduate from high school in June. She has just bobbed her hair, which she knows I dislike very much. All the girls she goes with have their hair bobbed. We have had several misunderstandings over this. Should I ask her to let it grow again or just forget it? She tells me I am old-fashioned. She would let it grow again if I insist. Would it be mean of me to ask her? What do you think of bobbed hair? Personally, I like bobbed hair and approve of it for any girl who wishes it and who, of course, looks becomingly well with it. And I think it would be unkind and unreasonable of you to demand that your fiance let her hair grow when she prefers it bobbed. Does she dictate to you about the way you wear your hair? Be glad and thankful that you have won the love of a fine girl. And don't think it your privilege to begin to make her over to suit your ideas. You don't want her to try to make you over, do you?

Dear Miss Smart: Why is it that little attentions shown to one another are so often forgotten after marriage? How long before the marriage should invitations and announcements be sent out? Who should be responsible in having invitations engraved, the couple or the bride's parents? Should a blue or brown traveling suit be worn by the bride? Do you think it marries or blights a girl's youth and happiness to be married young if there is love on both sides? Do you really think it possible to love more than once?

JANE: Are they often forgotten? Wives and husbands are just as thoughtful and courteous to each other as a young girl and her fiance, aren't they? At least they should be. Invitations to the wedding should be sent two weeks before the marriage and announcements should be sent immediately after the wedding. The bride's parents attend to this. Either one. The very tailored blue suit, with a white pin stripe, is especially good at this time. If brown and tan are becoming shades for you, choose a suit of those shades. You might get a tan three piece suit with a brown summer fur on it. That depends on what you term "young." Personally, I think if the young man and woman are old enough to look upon the serious side of marriage and realize that they are to have a home of their own, the upkeep of which they are responsible, then the happiness of the couple is assured. It is the marriages of the young people who marry for the "fun" or "sport" of it, that end disastrously. Yes.

HELP YOURSELF TO GLORIOUS HEALTH

LAW VIOLATIONS ON DECLINE

State Men Claim Dogastino Arrest Has Acted As A Dampener

Announcement of proposed deportation of Sam Dogastino, 112 E. Fourth-st., made by county authorities Saturday has sent an apprehensive chill quivering down the spines of foreign residents in the south side who are violating the law, it was learned Monday.

State dry men who were easing in and out of the pool rooms, cafes and saloons on the south side Sunday afternoon and night report that there was nothing doing. Dogastino's arrest had thrown a damper on trade.

Judge J. H. Hamilton, who has been advised on the matter of deporting Dogastino, will push proceedings, he announced Monday.

"We have only his word that he has been here 11 years," he said, "and he will have to prove it."

"Unless Dogastino can show good proof of the date of his landing in the United States, I think there is a good chance to deport him."

"If it is found that he cannot be sent back to Italy," Judge Hamilton added, "I think the country can be made so hot for him, that he will be glad to go anyway."

Because of the string of convictions standing against Dogastino, the court may assess a severe penalty. A $2,000 maximum fine and perhaps imprisonment can be imposed according to Judge Hamilton.

Dogastino and his wife Mary Dogastino, said to be the mother of Rosa Carbone, convicted blackhand writer, are owners of property listed as worth $5,000 to $7,000 when put up for bond Saturday.

According to information obtained in the neighborhood by Sheriff Crosson, Dogastino has not worked for more than two years.

STOCK STRAYS

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while creosote goes on to the stomach and is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung disease, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist, Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.—Adv.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Sallie Peck, employee of the Fair Deal Five & Ten, quarrels with her policeman sweetheart, Michael Curtis. That night a storm comes up and Sallie volunteers to take down a washing left out that night by his roommates, with whom Sallie lives. As she goes down the street, a crash catches the earth and something strikes her a blow on the head. When Sallie regains consciousness she finds herself in strange surroundings, richly furnished. She is visited soon by a French maid who calls her Mademoiselle Alva and tells her her name is Sallie. Madame Copeland, will be in shortly to see her. When Madame Copeland appears she kisses Sallie and tells her that she was injured in a train wreck and that Cousin Wheeler saved her life.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

While she stood there with the warm sunshine streaming in upon her face and turning her hair to spun gold a man entered slowly into the dirt road beyond the wall on a beautiful bay horse and Sallie gazed admiringly at both mount and rider until she realized that the latter was staring fixedly up in her direction, apparently straight at her window!

She dropped the curtain but thru its folds her eyes followed him and just before he disappeared into a clump of trees he turned in his saddle and lifted one arm. He didn't exactly wave but it looked like a sort of signal, nevertheless.

Sallie turned just as the door opened and Therese hurried in. "Why are you out of bed?" she demanded sharply. The change from the deference of her former manner was unmistakable and Sallie lifted her eyebrows.

"What's the idea?" she retorted. "I guess I can look out the window if I want to, Therese!" The mention of her name brought a quick flush to the woman's sallow, cheek.

"But mademoiselle must not rise until the doctor has come!" Her tone was respectful enough now, yet insistent. "You see, Miss Alva! It was not wise!"

For Sallie's treacherous knees had begun to give way beneath her and she was forced to reach out to a chair-back for support. She permitted Therese to lead her to bed and adjust the covers about her, then closed her eyes wearily, indifferent to the maid's departure.

That sudden flash of authority had revealed to her the difficulties of her present predicament and she couldn't afford to waste any time worrying about it. Folks didn't go around adopting strange girls out of railroad hands of two women who were evidently determined to keep her for awhile at least, but meantime Ma Brennan would be crazy with worry, thinking likely that she'd run away on account of that quarrel with Mike, and she'd lose her job if she didn't show up mighty quick.

The door opened again and a mousey little woman entered with a smile of her stiffly starched white uniform and a professional smile on her lips. She bore a great bunch of wrecks for nothing and the fact that Mrs. Copeland was so undeniably the real thing showed that she must be pretty desperate herself to take such a risk.

For some reason Sallie was to be palmed off on somebody as her step-daughter Alva; that was clear but it was equally certain she couldn't get away with it, not unless Sallie fell in with the scheme and there was a swell chance of that!

All she wanted now was to get home to Ma Brennan and her job at the Fair Deal! Here she was in New York where she didn't know a soul, without clothes or money and in the pink roses and advanced to the bed.

"My patient is much better this morning, I hear!" Her voice was brisk but soothing and she did not stare so searchingly as the other women had done. "These came for you just now and I knew you would want to see them."

She laid the huge sheaf of roses on the coverlet and Sallie glanced indifferently at them until she saw that a card was poked in among them. Drawing it out she read the engraved name: "Mr. Wheeler Sloan" with "Forerunners Club" down in the lower left corner and written across the top in a quick, slanting uneven hand: "Just heard the glad news. Waiting all impatience to see you."

Cousin Wheeler might wait indefinitely, as far as Sallie was concerned. She laid the card on the table beside her and watched the nurse as the latter moved about the room and into the tiled bath beyond with the quiet efficiency of a person who knew her business.

The nurse emerged from the bathroom shaking a tiny thermometer and approached the bed once more. "The doctor will be here soon," she announced. "I must take your temperature now, Miss Copeland—"

"Listen!" Sallie caught her wrist and pulled her down beside her. "You're Miss Tidmarsh, ain't you? How long have you been taking care of me?"

"For three days, my dear," Miss Tidmarsh disengaged one hand, smiling again. "You have made a splendid recovery!"

"Then you know I'm not cuckoo, don't you? I mean, that there's nothing the matter with my head now even if I was knocked silly!"

"Of course not! It was only natural that you should be slightly delirious but you are perfectly rational this morning, Miss Copeland."

"I'm not 'Miss Copeland'!" Sallie burst out desperately. "You've got to listen and try to understand! I was mixed up in that train wreck and rescued by mistake for somebody else! I don't know why Mrs. Copeland thought me here. I never saw her or that Therese before in my life and I've got to go home—"

"I understand!" Miss Tidmarsh spoke soothingly and did not appear to be surprised at the revelation. "That will all be arranged for you but you must let me take your temperature before you say any more for I must mark it on your chart and if it has risen I am afraid the doctor won't let you go—"

"Say, listen, sister, you've got me wrong!" Sallie pleaded in sudden panic. "They're trying to put that over on you the same as me, that I don't know who I am nor what I'm talking about! You've got to help me get away!"

"Yes, yes, I will, but not if you say one—word more!" The nurse's cool tones had crisped with authority. "Take the thermometer—that is right, now close your lips, please. Give me your hand."

Her firm fingers closed on Sallie's wrist and the girl lay watching her, in mute appeal as she counted the pulse-beats and frowning wrote some figures on a little red leather pad.

"Excuse me. Just a minute, please." She removed the thermometer and went quickly into the bathroom before Sallie could utter a word, but a knock sounded almost immediately upon the outer door leading to the hall and she reappeared to usher in a slim, dapper, smooth-shaven man in the late fifties, who with a whispered word and a nod handed her a small bag, and then advanced to the bed rubbing his shapely hands together in a way that made Sallie long to throw something at him.

"Good morning, my dear! Ah, I see that we are coming around nicely now! The chart, please, Miss Tidmarsh. Ha, h'm, temperature—I fear there has been too much excitement; we must keep more quiet!"

"Who are you?" demanded Sallie abruptly.

"Doctor Qualters, your physician. Take these, my dear. Now a little water, please, Miss Tidmarsh." She smiled, showing a row of shining teeth. Sallie obediently swallowed the tablets and took a sip of the water, trying to control herself.

"Doctor," she essayed a faint smile, "I suppose you know who I am?"

"Certainly. You are Alva Copeland." He took her hand and stroked it and Sallie gritted her teeth but forced herself to go on.

"Have you ever seen me before? Before this accident, I mean?"

"Of course! You haven't forgotten?" Dr. Qualters laughed indulgently. "I attended you when you first returned to America a month ago and were feeling so badly after that rough passage, don't you remember? Before that I had not seen you since you were a little girl."

So he was in on it, too! Sallie's smile became a trifle set as she leaned back among her pillows. There was only one course for her to take now; let pretty and let things ride.

CHAPTER III
The Newspaper Fragment

When Sallie awoke once more the shadows of late afternoon were creeping in at the window and the throbbing in her head had ceased. Reaching up she felt that the bandages had been removed and two strips of plaster were crossed under her hair.

She must first find out why Mrs. Copeland was trying to put over this bluff.

There must be a lot of servants in such a big house and they couldn't all be working in with Mrs. Copeland, for if she was trying to get away with anything crooked she wouldn't take a chance on blackmail later; Sallie had listened to enough of Mike's talk about criminal cases to realize that, to say nothing of Ma Brennan's pet detective stories, sooner or later she would discover somebody in that household who'd help her but until then she was up to her ears in it, for the first time she found herself wondering about the real Alva Copeland. If there was any such girl and she had actually been in that wreck, what had become of her?

At this point her cogitations were interrupted by the entrance of Miss Tidmarsh bearing a tray and Sallie became aware all at once that she was healthily hungry. "He eyed the silver covers eagerly and Miss Tidmarsh smiled."

"You have had a nice little sleep, Miss Copeland," she remarked.

"I guess I have," Sallie agreed. "I'm awfully hungry now, tho; I hope you've brought something besides soup!"

"A lovely squash, and some jelly and tea." She removed the covers and the girl eyed the repast before her with some disappointment. That neatly little frizzled-up bird! What she would give for one of Ma Brennan's boiled dinners right now—!

THE TANGLE

An Intimate Story of Innermost Emotions Revealed in Private Letters

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO LESLIE PRESCOTT, CARE OF THE SECRET DRAWER

It doesn't seem possible, little Marquise, that one's life can completely change in twenty-four hours. Yesterday, when I wrote you, I think I was the happiest woman on earth, and today I know there is none more miserable.

Jack seemed so pleased and happy to have me home. He had a nice dinner waiting for me, and after we had put the baby to bed he came and sat beside me on the sofa, and putting his arm around me and drawing my head over on his shoulder, he told me how glad he was that I had come back. "I cannot tell you how lonely I have been, dear heart," he said.

Not since the baby came had he been so lovable, and yet all the while there was a kind of something between us. Finally we began to talk of Paula Perier.

"I'm sure you know the gossip that is going about the town, Leslie."

"I don't know any gossip," I answered. "I never let people talk gossip to me."

"Are you sure you do not know that every one said that it was Paula Perier that put little Jack in front of our door?"

"I believe I have heard something like that but I paid no attention to it. I thought it was God."

Jack's arm clasped me tighter and his lips touched my hair lovingly.

"I am sure at that time if it hadn't been for that blessed baby I wouldn't have wanted to live," I said solemnly. "If it really was Paula Perier I shall bless her as long as I am on this earth. I was almost sure the other day when she was here that she was really and truly little Jack's mother, and oh, how sorry I was for her!"

"I do not think I could have been as big as she was if I really were his mother, I could not have gone away without telling my secret. I think I should have made a scene, John and insisted on taking my baby home with me."

"She is a big woman, dear, and, strange as it may seem, I'm going to tell you she is a good woman, even while I confess to you that Paula Perier is the mother of your adopted baby."

"Why do you say 'your' adopted baby, John? Isn't little Jack our adopted baby?"

"No, my dear. He is yours by adoption—but—Leslie, God forgive me, I am his real father."

I felt my eyes widen with surprise and horror.

"Don't laugh at me, Jack. I do not like such kinds of jokes."

"I am not laughing, dear heart. I am trying to tell you that Paula Perier put little Jack in front of our door because she was almost starving and she found that no one would consider a young woman with a baby; and she decided that as the child belonged to me and as I was perfectly able to bring it up in comparative luxury I was the logical one to take care of it."

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.

BASEBALL MEN MAKE PERMANENT PLANS FOR SEASON

NORTHERN OHIO LEAGUE FINISHES ORGANIZATION

Every official representative of the franchises making up the Northern Ohio baseball league were present at the league meeting, held at the K of C headquarters in Lima Sunday afternoon. It was an enthusiastic gathering in every particular phase which would in any manner benefit the playing of the schedule which was adopted and made official. From a temporary organization it became a permanent affair. Harry Bradbury, sports editor of The Lima News was unanimously elected president and secretary. His large experience during his connection with the Southern League and his enthusiasm in baseball as well as all lines of clean, honest sport, should make him the right man for the place.

In accepting the position he mentioned the fact that the Northern Ohio baseball league would begin the season in no time, nearer, that each and every member of the league would go in for the success of the enterprise in a flat-footed and determined manner, and although this was the first year, there would be no hesitations; each team would give to the thousands of fans the best ball possible with the spirit that means success.

RULES ADOPTED

The league rules and regulations, which had been sketched by Lee Hickler—who has been uniting in his endeavors to put one of the fastest little leagues in the country into a permanent organization and the temporary board of directors, Halloran, of Lima; Somerlot, of Angola; Houz, of Wapakoneta; Ackert, of Bryan; Heisman, of Delphos, submitted rules and regulations, which at the organization of a permanent league, were overwhelmingly adopted.

Everything from an official point of view has been completed. The schedule which was the one particular work difficult to make satisfactory to all concerned, has at last been completed and adopted. The season will begin Sunday May 4, Ottawa at Delphos; Angola at Lima; Wapak at Bryan and New Bremen at Celina.

The permanent board of directors are E. R. Haines, New Bremen; Thomas Owens, Angola; Fred Kennedy, Lima; Earl Leeds, Celina; John G. Hendricks, Wapakoneta; W. A. Ackert, Bryan; C. P. Roth, Delphos and A. V. Kersting, Ottawa. A significant fact that has marked every meeting has been absolutely harmonious. Every safeguard to warrant public approval will be the object of the president as well as every member representing a franchise. The desire is confident in the league's integrity and all its methods shall be open and above board. The secretary was given authority to communicate with the officials of the National Association with a view of joining thereby making it a part and parcel of organized ball.

In Squared Circle

NEW YORK — "As long as Dempsey can fight, I don't believe he'll try to be a promoter," Jack Kearns, manager of the champion, said today. Kearns had no confirmation of reports that Dempsey has agreed to back Floyd Fitzsimmons in the promotion of the proposed Gibbons-Carpenter fight.

NEW YORK — Joe Lynch, heavyweight champion, was a 2 to 1 favorite in the betting today, to retain his title when he meets Abe Goldstein, New York challenger, in Madison Square Garden tonight.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. — Jack Remault, Canadian heavyweight, meets Captain Bob Roper, Miami, Fla., in a ten-round, no-decision fight here tonight.

NEW YORK — Carl Trompene, Cleveland, heavyweight, was the first challenger to ask for a championship contest with Abe Goldstein, who won the crown from Joe Lynch here last week.

CHICAGO — Sammy Mandel, Rockford, lightweight, will fight Mickey O'Dowd, Muncie, Ind., in a ten-round battle here tonight. Mickey Kramer, St. Louis, is carded for eight rounds with Jack Clair in a semi-weigh-in.

DAYTON, Ohio — Tommy Gibbons of St. Paul, here for a fight with Joe Downey, of Cleveland, this Monday night, says articles for a scrap with George Carpentier at Michigan City, Ind., will be signed Wednesday. After the fight Gibbons hopes to catch matters with Firpo and then take a crack at the crown worn by Jack Dempsey.

BRADENTOWN, Fla. — Milton Stock is still a holdout on the Cards. Jake Wakefield, young Vanderbilt athlete, who broke a leg in practice, is being sent to St. Louis for treatment.

ROGERS HORNSBY GREAT HOPE OF CARDINALS GOING STRONG

(By JOE WILLIAMS)

BRADENTOWN, Fla. — Being somewhat of a one-man ball club, it inevitably follows that as Rogers Hornsby goes so do the Cardinals. The thing to do, then, when you visit the camp of the St. Louis Nationals is to watch Hornsby, the gifted right-hand hitter who again led his league last season with .354.

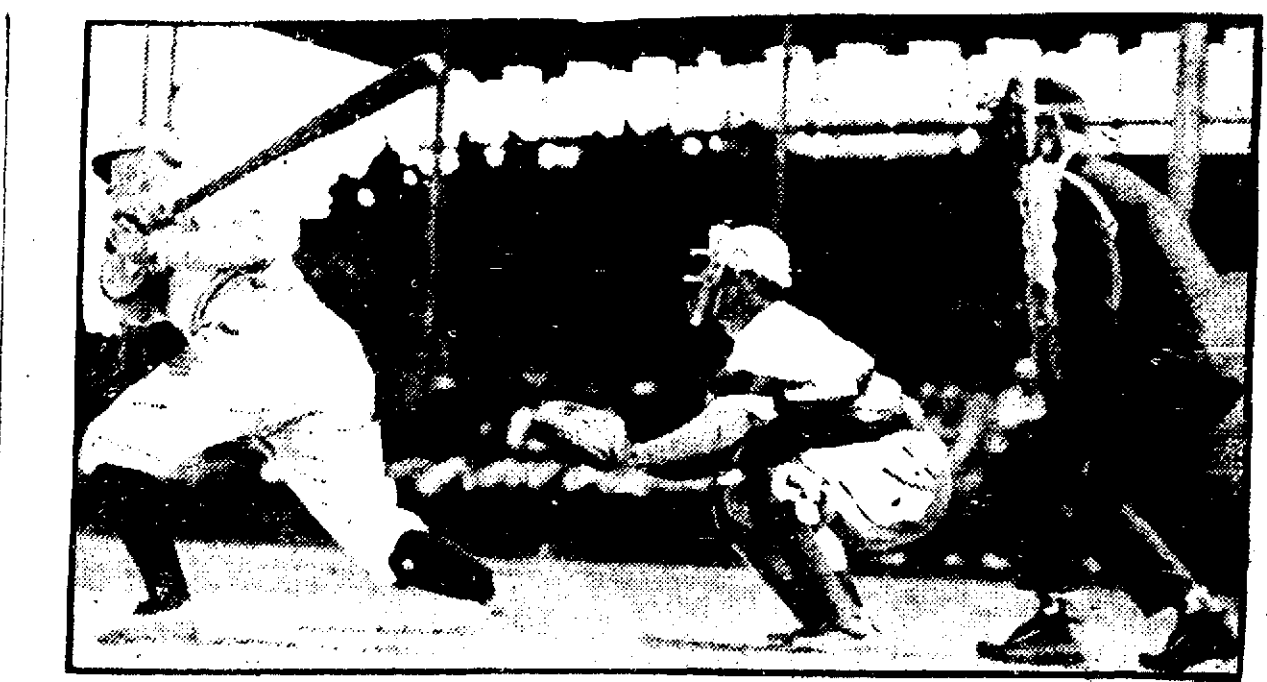

It is especially the thing to do this spring, since Hornsby and his manager, Branch Rickey, do little more than smile superficially as they exchange the greetings of the day.

Hornsby has not forgotten that Rickey soaked him on the whiskers in the clubhouse late last season following a sulphuric dialogue in the course of which Hornsby intimated that if Rickey could manage a ball club he, Hornsby, could make a watch with four-brake attachment and balloon tires.

It was later disclosed in the public prints that the two had shaken hands over a banana split and agreed to let bygones be bygones. For once this was not a lot of apple sauce.

HORNSBY FOR HORNSBY

It so happens that Hornsby is a regular guy, and while he unquestionably would welcome a deal which would carry him elsewhere, preferably to New York where, as he says, "McGraw would make a regular second baseman out of him," he has no intentions of laying down on the job in St. Louis. Rickey will get just as much out of Hornsby this year as he ever did, possibly more. Indeed, Hornsby may be more inclined to play for Hornsby this year than for the Cardinals. And if so, he may surpass all his previous individual accomplishments.

Indirectly, of course, the Cardinals would profit thereby. You can prattle all you want to about a "team player," but a man who is out there hitting .400 isn't exactly a handicap.

Hornsby is one of the most remarkable right-hand hitters of all time. This spring he seems all ready to be hitting in mid-season stride. Brooksia has one of the best pitching staffs in the old league but Uncle Robbie's pitchers were unable to get Hornsby out in an exhibition game here.

Later, at Sarasota, John McGraw sent his first-string pitchers against the Cardinals and Hornsby tore them to shreds with a devastating bat fire.

CARDS' WEAK SPOT

Rickey hasn't nothing to worry about his headliner. It's his catching staff and the right side of his infield that should demand his concern. With Eddie Ainsmith gone, Rickey probably has the worst catching staff in the league. At present Tuffy Clemens is rated as his first-string catcher. Tuffy is merely a good Democrat who writes to the home folks regularly.

Rickey is using Bell, a Houston rookie, at third, in place of the veteran Stock who is a holdout, and Freigau an Ohio collegian who was with the team last year, at short. Old Doc Lavan is the reserve. Whether Bell and Freigau will measure up remains to be seen.

The outfield is unchanged, likewise the pitching staff with the exception of Stohmer, who was pulled back from Louisville, presumably to show the boys how to wear an Ascot scarf correctly.

HOW'S IT FIT OLD TIMER?

This picture doesn't prove a blooming thing except that the camera man wanted a picture of Hugh McQuillan, of the New York Giants, trading headpieces with one of the Florida natives. We ought to build some sort of legend around the incident, telling how the native is a great follower of big league ball players and yearned for the sensation that comes with wearing a star's cap, but we aren't going to do it. We are one of those truthful sort of reporters, anyway.

SCHAEFER RAN BASES WRONG WAY

BY BILLY EVANS

Stealing first base after having reached second, as pulled by the late "Germany" Schaefer, startled the baseball world some years back and caused a change in the rule covering the play.

When the rules were written, no one for a minute thought any player would be crazy enough to run the bases backward, yet that is what Schaefer did and it created quite a rumpus.

Schaefer at the time was playing with Washington and Chicago was the opposing team. The game was played at Washington.

With Washington a run behind, Milan on third, Schaefer on first, the stage was set for the unusual procedure of running the bases backward.

It was decided to attempt to work the double steal, Schaefer drawing a throw from the catcher that it was hoped would enable Milan to score. Milan at that time was very fast, one of the best basemen in the American league.

Not desiring to take a chance on the play going over, the Chicago catcher permitted Schaefer to steal second unmolested. After two balls had been pitched to the batter Schaefer started the natives and players by racing back to first.

No one on the Chicago club seemed certain as to what should be done to properly retire Schaefer. The ball was thrown to the first baseman. Whereupon Schaefer broke for second. The first baseman touched the base but the umpire made no ruling. He then threw the ball to second and Schaefer again dashed back to first.

At this stage Milan broke for the plate and was retired on a close play ending the inning, also an embarrassing situation.

The moment Schaefer reached second base he became the occupant of that bag. According to the rules the only way he could be retired was by being touched with the ball when not standing on second.

In order to keep players from running backward the rule has been changed and now all that is necessary is to touch the bag vacated with the ball or the player while not standing on the bag.

WALKER'S SPORT TALK ENCOURAGES MANY FANS

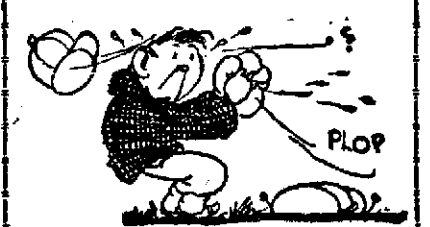

(BY HENRY L. FARRELL)

NEW YORK—(United Press)—"All the United States wants to get along and have a good time is some organization with a million members that will get up and say 'We want' and not 'We don't want,'" according to Senator James J. Walker, father of the Sunday baseball and the boxing bills in New York.

In a speech last night at the annual dinner of the National Sports Alliance, Walker said: "The need of such an organization is apparent, when a representative of 6,000 people can get up before the representatives of 5,000,000 and shout that the public does not want boxing, that it does not want Sunday baseball, that it does not want Sunday movies and that it does not want the theater."

The defense, indirect that it was, that Senator Walker sounded for boxing, encouraged the members of the profession, who had heard that the father of the boxing bill had soured on the sport and that he would not lift a hand to save it at Albany.

Working Out The Kinks

NEW ORLEANS—(United Press)

Six doubles and a homer poled by Freddy Hoffman gave the Yankees an 11 to 2 victory over New Orleans. The Babe got a double and a single and got rid of a lot of flu, he said.

SARASOTA, Fla.—After losing three games in a row to major league teams, the New York Giants start today on the little fellows. They are to engage the Indianapolis American Association club at Plant City Monday and take on the Toledo American Association club Tuesday at Gainesville. McGraw will send his regulars on the trip.

CLEARWATER, Fla.—Five exhibition games are on the program arranged this week for the Brooklyn Robins. They are to play Milwaukee, the St. Louis Cards, the Braves, the Cleveland Indians and Indianapolis.

TAMPA—Beginning with the Boston Braves Tuesday, the Nationals will play six games in the next seven days. Manager Bucky Harris lined Byron Speece, a rookie, $50 for breaking discipline and the rookie squad is on its finest behavior.

LAKELAND, Fla.—Fine showing of Dutch Emil Levesen, Indian recruit, from Iowa, who squelched the batting orgy of the Brooklyn Dodgers Saturday, may win him a regular berth.

AUGUSTA, Ga.—Ty Cobb gave his Tigers another Sabbath drill technically violating the strict Sunday laws of Augusta to prepare them for their exhibition game with Toronto Monday at Greenville, S. C.

ORLANDO, Fla.—Manager Jack

Hendricks, dissatisfied with the light hitting of the Reds in exhibition games, has switched his batting order in an effort to increase the Red offensive. Eppa Rixey, who has an infected knee, was the only player left here when the Reds started on a long exhibition tour of the east coast.

MOBILE, Ala.—The Browns beat the Mobile Bears, 6 to 2, Sunday, but only fielding did it. The Bears got eight hits to the Browns' seven. George Sisler was going in old time form and got a hit and a sacrifice in four times at bat.

BRADENTOWN, Fla.—The Cards started a busy week with a game with the Phillies at Leesburg. Tuesday the Rickey men tackled the White Sox at Winterhaven; Wednesday the Brooklyn Dodgers in Clearwater, and Thursday the Senators here.

STOCKTON, Calif.—The Chicago Cubs and the Portland Beavers are scheduled for a game here today. Rain stopped the Cubs from playing Los Angeles on its home grounds.

WINTERHAVEN, Fla.—The rookies in the White Sox camp are to be cleaned out this week and Johnny Evers will begin the task of putting the regulars on edge for the opening of the season.

PHILADELPHIA—The Philadelphia Nationals have 13 pitchers at Leesburg, Fla., at least five of whom will be released before the opening of the season. The Phillies meet the Cardinals at Leesburg today. The Philadelphia Americans yesterday met their first defeat of the training season, the Baltimore Internationals winning 3 to 2.

CLEVELAND—The "Jinx" which trailed Phil Bedgood last season apparently is following the big Cleveland pitcher again. A turned ankle suffered at Hot Springs kept him from preliminary conditioning there. Now he has developed a sore shoulder which will keep him out of the lineup at least a week. Last year he was handicapped from the start by sickness.

The sport of boxing is 2,500 years old. This doubtless explains how the phrase, "long-suffering public," started.

DENIES MEETINGS ON K STREET
Mannington Says Daugherty Was Never There
PARIS--(United Press)--"Attorney General Daugherty was never in my house in Washington during the six months I occupied it," Howard Mannington, lessee of the "Little Green House on K-st." and missing witness in the senate's Daugherty investigation, alleged today in a written statement given the United Press.
"Regarding the alleged conference at the house (Jesse Smith, Daugherty and others were declared by witnesses to have conferred there) none such were ever held," the statement continued.
"I never secured nor sought liquor withdrawals at any time. As I have been absent from Washington for two and a half years, I have no knowledge of matters now the subject of inquiry."
Mannington's name was mentioned by witnesses before the Daugherty committee in connection with alleged conspiracies to obtain withdrawal permits for bonded liquor. Declaring he intended to return to the United States shortly as soon as his business here was completed, Mannington said he had no objection to appearing before the senate committee.

JURY STILL INCOMPLETE IN TRIAL OF GOV. MC'RAY
INDIANAPOLIS--(Associated Press)--With less than half of the jury selected, the second week of the trial in criminal court of Governor McRae on charges of embezzlement got under way today.
The first week of the trial was consumed in questioning of witnesses and the elimination of practically all of them for previously formed opinions as to the guilt or innocence of the defendant.
Officials are hopeful a jury will be empaneled by the middle of the week. They declare the widespread publicity given the governor's affairs is responsible for the difficulty encountered in selecting the jury, most of the takers claiming some conviction regarding the case.

Paian Dances Are Approved By Clergymen
NEW YORK--(Associated Press)--Some of the clergymen who acted as an unofficial jury expressed approval today of barefoot dancing as performed in the historic church of St. Mark's in the Bowery yesterday against the wishes of Bishop Manning.
Six barefooted girls, clad in flowing garments of silk, gave "the ritual dance of the Della Robbia Annunciation."
Several scores of clergymen acted as jury at the invitation of the Rev. Dr. William Norman Guthrie, rector of St. Mark's, who recently was requested by Bishop Manning of the New York Episcopal diocese, to discontinue the dance services which he has been holding periodically.
The dancers appeared both in the afternoon and evening. Admission was by card only and thousands were turned away. This police had to regulate the crowds outside the church.
"I offered to let Bishop Manning appoint 25 of a committee of 50 to judge the dance and he ignored the offer," Dr. Guthrie said. "Then I invited the clergy and the public to witness it and judge for themselves. The bishop's stand is autocratic. I take the democratic view and on this dance I will stand or fall."
The six dancers symbolized Birth, Death, Pain, Pleasure, Consciousness and the Virgin Spirit of Earth. They danced to the music of the organ and a harp.
It was understood the bishop was unofficially represented and that he will receive a report of the services.
Dr. Karl Reiland, rector of St. George's Protestant Episcopal church, said he found the dances "beautiful and inspiring."

WAR ON SHARPERS
Putman Co. Seeks to Protect Riding Public
CHICAGO--(Associated Press)--Organized gangs of card sharps operating on railroad trains are responsible for the passing by Putman Co., of the following bill this morning:
"Strangers who invite you to play cards generally are too good for the average mortal."
The warning is emphasized in a picture showing the corner of a dice table sticking out of a man's pocket.
A Putman company official says there is more robbery by card sharps today than at any time in the last 25 years with the Florida trains this year one of the great harvest fields.
The sharps generally work in pairs or trios, make a quick cleanup, leave the train at a division point, and work back to their base.
